The University of Indianapolis respects the rights of copyright holders and their agents and has enacted this policy in order to comply with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA).

Designated Agent

Copyright infringement claims must comply with the DMCA, Title II, Section 512(c)(3). The DMCA requires that service providers publish a designated agent to whom all claims of copyright infringement can be sent. Claims of copyright infringement should be sent to the University of Indianapolis' designated agent:

Matthew C. Wilson
Senior Director of Network, Systems & Security Information Technology
University of Indianapolis
1400 East Hanna Ave
Indianapolis, IN 46227
dmca@uindy.edu

Procedures

Upon receipt of a claim of copyright infringement, the following procedures will be followed:

- The designated agent will assign the investigation to the Security Administrator within Information Technology
- The Security Administrator will create a ticket within the helpdesk system to track progress and repeat offenders
- If able, the Security Administrator will review logs and identify the device and the owner involved in the copyright infringement claim
- First time offenders will be notified by forwarding the original infringement claim to the owner of the device named in the claim, Student Affairs will be copied
- Repeat offenders will have their devices disconnected from the network and referred to Student Affairs for disciplinary action

More Information

There are hundreds legal alternatives to consume copyrighted music and movies. Legal alternatives include, but are not limited to Apple Music, iTunes, Spotify, Pandora, Youtube, Google Play, Amazon Prime, Xfinity On Campus and Netflix.

Streaming services are also available from the library. Videos and music can be used by all students and staff. These materials can be used for projects or personal use. Links to specific items can be embedded into documents, but files cannot be downloaded to use offline. The library also has access to electronic books and articles. Some of these can be downloaded for personal use, but permission varies depending on the vendor.
